THE STATIST

[Handwritten signature: E. C. M.]

A collection of articles written by authoritative Sicilian personalities. This is a journalistic achievement that will enlighten the many readers on the problems of Sicily's economy and the great strides that are being made to improve its stability. The full importance of Sicily's 'regional autonomy' and its effect in the rebirth of the island, is detailed in the article written by Gaspare Ambrosini. Gaetano Martino gives us an interesting and learned study of the relations and similarities between Briatin and Sicily from mediaeval times. The full importance of irrigation and land reform is explained in the articles by Pietro Campilli, Francesco Platzer and Emilio Zanini. The Minister Bernardo Mattarella brings into a new light the wide scope of Sicilian exports to many European markets. Various aspects of Sicily's oil policy are expertly clarified by Giuseppe Mirabella; Gulf Italia research activity in Sicily by Nicolo' Pignatelli d'Aragona, and oil refining by Angelo Moratti. The role of banking and savings are covered by the President of the Banco di Sicilia, Carlo Bazan, and the President of the Cassa di Risparmio, Lauro Ghiazzese. One of the greatest personalities in sicilian political life, Enrico La Loggia - he is recognised for framing a large part of the Regional Statute for Sicily - dwells on the depression, on Anglo-Italian relations and gives a wealth of interesting statistics in his ample survey. Industrial developments and private enterprise are covered by Vincenzo Occhipinti and Domenico La Cavera respectively.

Amongst the other industries dealt with are shipping, the chemical and sulphur industries, mining developments, electricity, citrus exports and tourists' activities and developments.
